

Go See Your Mother

Gershon Veroba & Yerachmiel Ziegler–Vocals; Yerachmiel–Guitars; Gershon–Keyboards; Gal Gershovsky–Drums

Standing by the window in her home she's all alone... she's all alone waiting for the front doorbell to ring she's an elderly woman ... a frail human being She remembers when you were only two and she had to change those little things she put on you Remember all the happy times you had
And the joy you found in living before you lost your dad.

Go see your mother, you were only given one, go see your mother
And you know that you will never have another
Go see your mother, go see your mom
Go see your mother, it only takes a little time to see your mother
It only takes a little hug to make your good old mom a smiling mom,
A happy mom

Many of her wrinkles came from you and her white hair well you gave that to her too she gladly gave her life and love for all her little ones
Can you spare but a moment from your own life and your fun

Go see your mother, you were only given one, go see your mother
Go see your mother, go see your mom
Go see your mother, it only takes a little time to see your mother
It only takes a little hug to make your good old mom a smiling mom,

Go see your mother, you were only given one, go see your mother
Go see your mother, go see your mom
There will never be another like your mother
Won't you please go see your mom.
